

MARK STOCK

Executive Vice President, Chief Operating Officer

As Executive Vice President, Chief Operating Officer, Mark Stock provides the executive oversight for the execution of all AM General's current business initiatives. In this role Mark oversees operations, quality, supply chain management, engineering, and U.S. Defense Programs.

Mark has an extensive career in industry and defense. Prior to joining AM General, Mark was Vice President and General Manager for FLIR Systems where he led sales, program management, production, quality, and product management. Prior to FLIR, Mark held the role of Senior Manager for Strategy at Ernst & Young, LLC and taught at the National War College in Washington, DC as a Professor of Strategy and Policy.

Before joining industry, Mark also had a distinguished service career that covered several executive level appointments to include Deputy Director for Joint Operations on the Joint Staff, where he managed a global operations and strategy portfolio; Senior Advisor for NATO's Operations Commander; and Commander of the 1st Brigade, 82nd Airborne Division. Mark is an Army veteran having served as an Infantry Officer for over two decades including multiple deployments to Bosnia, Iraq, and Afghanistan.

Mark attended the United States Military Academy at West Point where he earned a Bachelor of Science in Engineering and Geography. Mark also has master's degrees in National Security and Strategic Studies from the Naval War College and in Public Administration from Harvard University.